El Modena

Is a lovely little residence place on the S. P. R. R., three miles due east of Orange. The population of this precinct is about 750. A postoffice, large and commodious church, as well as school building is erected here. Orange is the principal place of business. The altitude of El Modena is 300 and this is the nearest town to the coal mines in the Santiago canyon. Abundant water for irrigation and domestic use.

El Toro

Is a station on the Santa Fe railway thirteen miles southeast of Santa Ana. Its elevation is 428 feet above the sea. At El Toro stages connect with trains for Laguna. Much grain, hay, wool and honey is shipped from this station. The silver mines of the Trabuca Canyon are a few miles northeast. About the town a large acreage of deciduous fruits have been planted and are bearing good crops. Prunes are the favorite production
